FARM FOR SALE.

The Best Bargain Offered

S. N. ELLIOTT offers for sale this Farm of 220 Acres, at Elliott's Station, on the Mississippi Central Railroad, eight miles south of Grenada. 300 more acres can be added if desired.

The land lies on both sides of the railroad, up to Elliott's Station, and affords eligible site for Mercantile and Manufacturing establishments. It has an abundance of the timber needed by the railroad; more than enough to pay the price of the whole tract. It is all level, and susceptible of divisions to suit any purposes. Has 150 acres cleared and under good fence. Has a comfortable family residence with good outhouses, barns and stables—large, and the best gin, screw and cotton press—all new, in the same county. The improvements cost within the last three years $4000. Mr. Elliott desires to sell before the first of January next, and has a strong inducement he offers his land at ten dollars per acre, in United States Currency, for which he refused thirty dollars per acre in 1861. Time will be given, if desired, upon half the price upon fair terms. Sale must be made soon or not at all. Title of the highest grade. Refer to

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

A GOVERNOR THAT CANNOT VOTE.

An Ex-Senator Elect Indicted.

ISAAC MURPHY was a Delegate, in 1860 and 1861, to the Convention held at Little Rock, by which the Ordinance of Secession was adopted. In voting for Delegates, the people had also voted on the question of seceding, and nine-tenths of the counties, including MURPHY'S, had voted against it. But upon the issuance of LINCOLN'S Proclamation, declaring war against the Southern States, the Convention re-assembled, and by every vote but one adopted the Ordinance, and afterwards united the State with those already confederated and at war against the United States. MURPHY, a weak, silly and unnoticeable man, of neither capacity nor acquirements, obstinate, as weak men often are, voted against the Ordinance, to show his consistency, and then remained in the Convention until it finally adjourned, voting for every measure by which the State was prepared for resistance and aggression against the United States; one of the first of these being to raise a regiment and arm and equip it, and the offer of it to the Confederate States, of which Arkansas afterwards became one with the help of his vote.

How he became a Union man, after the adjournment and previously to the year 1864, we do not know; but, because he voted against the Ordinance of Secession, President LINCOLN appointed him Governor of Arkansas, when the State was about to be reconstructed by a tenth part or more of its white population, after the occupation of Little Rock by the Federal forces: and when the bogus Convention, composed in large measure of men self-appointed and of those whose very existence and names were then for the first time made known to the people of the State, had manufactured what has since been enforced as the Constitution of the State, ISAAC MURPHY was elected Governor of the State by the United States troops and the fraction of the people who voted; and under that election he is Governor yet.

Of course the 'Governor' proposed to vote under the Reconstruction Acts. He applied for registration, and his name was marked D (doubtful). He presented himself at the polls, a few weeks since, and his vote was rejected. Phancy his phelinks!

FISHBACK, in 1860 a recent importation into Arkansas, was a Delegate to the Convention from Sebastian county, and voted for the Ordinance of Secession. The bogus Legislature, in 1864, elected him to the Senate of the United States. Arkansas was not considered sufficiently well reconstructed for him and his colleague to be admitted to the companionship of WADE and SUMNER, and he was constrained "to blush unseen,

And waste his sweetness on the desert air."

We understand that he is now under indictment in the District Court of the United States for the Western District of Arkansas, for perjury, in taking the oath prescribed by Act of Congress to qualify him to hold some office (Commissioner in bankruptcy, perhaps) with which it was lately attempted to reward his fidelity and consistency as a Union man of the first water.

Some special legislation by Congress is needed, for the relief of these two patriots. It is easy to qualify MURPHY to vote: and, as there are others, elsewhere, in like condition with FISHBACK, we suggest to Congress the passage of a special Act of grace and immunity for the relief of all such persons, being good Union men, as have improvidently taken the oath prescribed for persons appointed to office.

JACKSON, NOVEMBER TERM.

Lyons vs. Mason. From Memphis Chancery

The plaintiff sued out a general attachment against the defendant and levied the same on the steamboat Southerner as the property of the defendant. The defendant filed a plea in abatement, averring that he was a citizen and resident of Tennessee, denying the grounds of the attachment generally, and averring specially that the steamboat Southerner, his property, was engaged in commerce and trade between the ports of Memphis and New Orleans, making regular trips between said ports; that said boat was about leaving the port of Memphis for the port of New Orleans, but to return again to the home port, in the usual course of trade. The plaintiff demurred to the plea.

Held: That although the attachment laws of this State are to be liberally construed in favor of creditors, it is equally true that public policy requires that commerce and trade are to be favored, and that sending a vessel belonging to a port in this State beyond the limits of the State to return in the usual course of trade, is not such a removal of property out of this State as will authorize an attachment under the attachment laws of Tennessee.

Anderson vs. Bedford, Adm'r of Kinney. From Memphis Chancery.

In May, 1858, plaintiff Anderson filed his bill against Bedford, as administrator of Kinney, who died in 1857, to hold defendant to an account for the agency of Kinney in his lifetime, in the management of lands and negroes belonging to plaintiff. Defendant qualified as administrator 1st Monday of November, 1857. In May, 1860, there was an interlocutory decree of right of recovery. On the 5th of February, 1861, on motion of the defendant the bill was dismissed for champerty appearing in the proof; but without prejudice. On the 23d of March, 1861, this bill was filed by plaintiff and wife, seeking a recovery as in the former bill. To this bill there was a demurrer, interposing the statute of limitation, and want of equity, and of right to recover.

Held: 1. The Code does not apply to the case, under section 44, because the cause of action accrued prior to October 1, 1858.

2. This bill being filed more than three years after the qualification of the administrator, is barred by the act of 1789, ch. 23, sec. 4. This act, as well as the act of 1715, ch. 45, stand alone and unconnected with the general statute of limitation. The act of 1715 makes no exception in favor of any person under disability. The act of 1789 contains exceptions only in favor of infants, femes covert, and persons non compotes mentis. The act of 1715, ch. 27, sec. 6, and 1819, ch. 28, sec. 3, make provisions for the bringing of a new suit, which saves the bar in only three cases, viz: 1. Where judgment for the plaintiff has been reversed for error. 2. Where judgment has been arrested. 3. Where the defendant cannot be served with process. In all these cases the new suit must be brought within one year. But these provisions are not contained in the act of 1715, ch. 48, nor in the act of 1789, ch. 23. The Code incorporates the exceptions contained in sec. 6 of act of 1715, and sec. 3 of the act of 1819, and none others, into sections 2754 and 2755 in relation to the limitations of actions. But the Code does not apply to this case. The case must be governed by the act of 1789, ch. 23, standing alone.

3. But if the case had fallen within the provisions of the other acts alluded to, the plaintiff has not brought himself within the saving of the exceptions—it being true that a nonsuit, or dismissal of bill by a party, or the court, or the failure of the action because in the wrong forum, or when the suit was defeated by the acts and devices of the defendant, is not within the letter or equity of these acts. And, now it is equally true that the dismissal of an action caused by the wrongful act, such as champerty, or the laches of the plaintiff, does not come within the letter or spirit of these provisions preventing the bar of the statute and allowing a new suit. But it has been held that an abatement of a suit by reason of death of the plaintiff, being an act of God, does come within the spirit of the exceptions, 1 Hum. 46.

4. There being a plea of the statute of limitations filed in this cause—which it is contended by the defendant's counsel overruled the demurrer in the cause—it is further held: That although as a general rule the filing of a plea overrules the demurrer, yet the plea not being sworn to, and the same being a highly technical defence, the Chancellor did right in treating it as a nullity, and as the statute prohibits a reversal in this court except upon the merits, the plea will be disregarded here. Decree below affirmed.

Miller vs. Morrow. From Hardeman Chancery. On motion to file petition for rehearing.

Held: That the present is a continuation of the April term, 1867, of the Supreme Court at Jackson, under sec. 4511, Code, notwithstanding the intervention of the Knoxville session since the sitting of this court at Jackson, in April, 1867.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

—Hon. George H. Pendleton, of Ohio, is expected to visit Nashville towards the close of this month, in compliance with an invitation of the Democracy of that city.

—A foreign correspondent of the Southern Churchman, says: "The American Bishops, on the whole, made a favorable impression on the people of England—Quintard, of Tennessee, especially, although he would be shy and chary in opposing Ritualism. He delivered a thrilling address at the Church Congress held at Wolverhampton, a few weeks ago. The Bishop of Iowa addressed a letter to Bishop Tait, of London, through the Times, before he left, on the subject of the Ritual mania. It did not elicit much attention.

—It is proposed by the Southern Republicans now in Washington, friendly to Chief Justice Chase, to hold a Southern Radical Convention there on the 22d of February, to bring forward the name of Mr. Chase as the candidate for President.

—Jefferson Davis left Canada on Tuesday, and, to avoid attracting attention in New York, went on board the steamship Albermarle, at her sailing hour, 9 o'clock Wednesday night. He was unaccompanied by any one. On his arrival at Richmond he took a coach and drove to the residence of Judge Ould. No one expected his arrival, not even his counsel, who deny the report that they have any intention of resisting a trial before Judge Underwood. Mr. Davis is in excellent health and quite cheerful. Many friends are calling on him to-night.

—Weston, after his failure to make the hundred miles on Saturday, the 16th inst., took a seven hours' sleep at Conneaut, Ohio, and at 1:30 o'clock on Sunday morning was again on the tramp, as blithe and fresh as ever, which is pretty good evidence that he could have made the hundred miles the day before, had himself and backers been so minded. At 9½ he was at Geneva, where he took a breakfast that "would have surfeited an alderman." At 1 p.m. he reached Painesville, and dined, having made forty-two miles, and read his letters and the morning papers while walking. At midnight of Sunday the pedestrian reached the Kennard House in Cleveland, having accomplished seventy miles. The excitement in Cleveland was extraordinary. His route through the streets was densely thronged, and sixty policemen were detailed to keep the way clear. They closed around Weston, leaving him in a hollow square, and by that means kept back the multitude.

—There was something of a sensation created on the 22d, at Washington City, by the prevalence of a story that Representative Woodbridge, of Vermont, had reversed his position on the impeachment question, and had signed the report of the Judiciary Committee in favor of the impeachment of the President, thereby converting the minority into a majority of the Committee. It was precipitated on the New York market to-day, and the brokers have been freely telegraphing, inquiring into the truth of the story. So far as can be ascertained, no such change has been made, but the committee decline to furnish any information until the official report is made on Monday next. In the meantime, little or no credence should be attached to any of the prevailing rumors regarding it.

—The Secretary of the Treasury will, on Monday, send to the Senate a reply to the resolution calling upon him for any facts or reports in the possession of the Department on the subject of the repeal of the cotton tax, and will inclose a report from Commissioner Wells in favor of the repeal.

—It is understood that the new fifteen cent denomination of fractional currency is now ready to be issued, but that the delay is occasioned by a desire to know the opinion of Congress on the subject of issuing it. It seems that so far all the members who have been conversed with in that regard are favorable to the new denomination.

—A number of leading Senators are in favor of the adjournment of both Houses on Monday next, until the 2d of December. The presentation of the impeachment report in the House, however, will keep that body in session several days next week.

—Representative Eliot, of Massachusetts, who was the Chairman of the Special Committee on Freedmen, will introduce a resolution in a few days to ascertain whether any reasons exist why the Freedmen's Bureau should not be continued beyond the time limited by law, and to send for persons and papers.

—Gen. Grant will soon submit to Congress the report of Maj. Whittlesey, who was detailed last spring to visit the leading Colleges of the country, with the view to suggesting a plan for the introduction of military instruction. The plan proposed contemplates a Bureau of Military Education in the War Department, under the charge of a Director-General, with the rank and pay of a Brigadier General. State Legislatures are to designate Colleges in which the plan may be carried out, and in each of these the President is to appoint two Military Professors. Students who pursue military studies are to have books and camp equipage furnished free. A limited number of college graduates, showing the greatest proficiency in military studies, are to have their names published in the Army Register, and one graduate per year from each college will be commissioned as Second Lieutenant in the army, on the same footing with West Point graduates.

—The meteors fell in such profusion in Leavenworth on the 16th, that the dock hands on board the steamer Hensley became frightened; and, falling upon their knees, called upon God for mercy, satisfied as they were, that the day of judgment was at hand.

—The first sale of Confederate property in charge of the Freedmen's Bureau, will take place at Augusta on the 3d of next month, when certain machine works and Clay City lots will be sold for the benefit of the schools.

—The feeling in the House, especially among western members, is very strong against any farther contraction, and several resolutions are ready for introduction on Monday, attacking any power of the Secretary to contract four millions per month. Such a resolution, it is thought, will pass the House by a large majority, but it is not expected that it can be got beyond the Senate Finance Committee after McCulloch's report has been read.

—A serious disturbance has occurred between the blacks at Falmouth, Island of Jamaica, on the Northside, and the soldiers and new police. The blacks are on trial. This is the first measure of the government towards establishing a military force. The scheme of employing from the Southern States of the United States has been sustained, and Gov. Graham is confident a subsidy to the New Orleans line of steamers will be given.

A correspondent of the Portland (Me.) Argus, writing from Sweden in that State, tells the following disgraceful story:

A man living in this town has just committed an act that deserves the censure of the public as it has already received that of his neighbors. He has formally contracted with his brother to take out, of his way his aged and invalid wife and support, clothe and bury her for $1000. She has been a hard working and faithful wife and has raised a large family of children, who have never felt what it was to be disgraced till now. One of them a man of twenty years and upward, cried like a child when he heard of the affair. He had offered to support her himself if the old man would give him the farm to do it with, which was refused. And now this man sends his wife from home, where "she has outlived her usefulness," to die among strangers! He has not even the excuse of poverty to plead, for he is accounted the richest man in town.

A Paris letter says: "The Prince of Wales has become quite an animal; he looks like Henry VIII, and acts like George IV. But we Americans must not say one word even against him. How did he act at the Exposition towards our poor little humble department! You must know that in that monster house the world is represented. Nearly every nation has a cafe; for it is too far out of the city to return always to lunch or dinner. Of course he is looked upon as being the head of the greatest nation upon earth, and great preparations were made for his reception, but he declared he would take his first lunch nowhere but in America, and, to begin with, drank three sodawaters without stopping.,,

The Duke of Argyle tells a good story. He was traveling with the Duke of Northumberland in first-class carriage on the Northeastern Railway. At one of the stations a little commercial traveler got in. The three chatted familiarly until the train stopped at Alnwick Junction. Here the Duke of Northumberland got out, and was met by a train of flunkeys and servants. The commercial traveler said to his remaining companion, "Yes," said the Duke of Argyle, "he is the Duke of Northumberland. "Bless me," exclaimed the bagman; "and to think that he should have been so affable to two little snobs like us."

PRAIRIE fires continue to rage in nearly all sections of the West. They have been particulary severe in western and northern Missouri and Kansas—in many instances destroying whole farms. Immense amounts of property have been destroyed. The swamps in southeast Missouri are said to be a mass of fire, and along the Illinois Central Railroad, for a distance of one hundred miles, the prairies are burning. In Union county, Illinois, the flames extended into the woods, which are now on fire. No relief is looked for until a heavy general rain falls, of which there is no immediate prospect.

THE ARKANSAS BASTILE.

We have received the facts which we state below from a gentleman of the bar of Arkansas of the very highest character and most unimpeachable veracity, who knows them by having been of counsel for the unfortunate victims of an infamous and irresponsible despotism, even to think of which in the 19th century, in a civilized land, makes the heart sick.

On the old road from Little Rock to the Post of Arkansas, about thirty miles from the latter place, at what has been known for half a century as the Gum Pond, General Samuel Mitchell, an old citizen of the State, some years ago settled and opened a farm. He died, and his children became the owners of the place. Among these were a son and daughter. In August last the son had very recently married, and the daughter, a young girl, lived with him. Some worthless person who had intruded upon her before, and whose presence was not desired by her, came again to the place, when she was absent at a neighbour's some distance off, and hired a negro man, employed on the place, to send a negro boy to tell her that a young lady had called to see her, so as to induce her to return home. She questioned the boy closely, did not believe his tale, and did not return.

In the afternoon her brother came home, learned what had happened, and provoked at the impudence of the negro who had taken the bribe and sent a lie to his young sister, lashed him well with the reins of a bridle, his brother-in-law, Mr. Ould, being present but not assisting.

The negro went to Devall's Bluff and complained to an agent of the Freedmen's Bureau named McCulloch, who represented the matter to General Smith, in command at Little Rock, by whose order Mitchell and Ould were arrested, in the latter part of August or early in September, and confined in the Arkansas Penitentiary, near Little Rock, in cells of stone with iron doors, each cell seven or eight feet in length by about four in width, to await trial by a Military Commission. The keeper of the Penitentiary, a Northern adventurer of the name of Hodges, offered them the choice of remaining in their dark close cells, or going to work among the convicted felons, black and white, whom he worked by contract. They refused the latter, and continued in their solitary confinement.

About the 20th of October, counsel employed by them prepared an application to the Judge of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Arkansas, for a writ of Habeas Corpus; but before it could be presented the next day, Mitchell, a respectable, honest, industrious, peaceful and orderly young man, shut out from the world, in the dark gloom of his cell, and pining for the young wife whom he was to see no more, died in his prison, the murdered victim of a brutal and insolent Military Despotism, and from the house of felons was carried to his grave. A statement of the fact was appended to the petition for the great Writ of Right, and the Judge granted the writ as to Ould. Gen. Smith replied that he was imprisoned by order of General Ord, and refused to obey the writ. Ould still remains in the Penitentiary. After the writ had been served, he was tried by a Military Commission of five officers. His counsel had applied for a few days' delay, to enable him to have the benefit of witnesses in his behalf, but the reply was that some of the members of "the Court" would have in a few days to be absent under orders, and that it was "a military necessity that the trial should go on." He was tried, military necessity depriving him of the benefit of his witnesses. What the finding of "the Court" is, is not yet known. The Judge ordered a rule upon General Smith to show cause why he should not be punished for a contempt in disobeying the writ; action on which rule is delayed by the absence of the Judge, who is now holding Court in the Western District.

It is also to be added, to complete the record of infamy, that ample bail was offered for young Mitchell, and a deposit of money to any amount, in lieu of bail. The negro whom he had whipped was not injured, except so far as his skin was made to smart under the lash of the bridle-reins. He was not lacerated, as Polish and Russian ladies have been with the knout, or soldiers in the service of the United States with the cat, for insolence to a Lieutenant. And, finally, his corpse was hurried off to the cemetery, from the cell in which he was murdered, an hour before the time fixed for the funeral, that no respect might be paid to his remains,—a small piece of ignominious malice that failed because the Sexton, who chanced to have been a Confederate soldier, delayed the interment.

About the beginning of September, a young man named Garland, who had belonged to a Johnson Club at Grand Glaize on White River, which had met in his office or rooms, in which at the time we speak of, the registering commission or something of that sort sat, was told by some young men that they meant to put up in front of his office the United States' flag of the Johnson Club, which he had kept, and across which was the name of Andrew Johnson. They did so, and he, finding it there early in the morning, pulled it down, and perhaps tore it somewhat in doing so. It was, we understand, his own flag. At any rate, it was in his keeping. For this "offense" he was arrested, taken to Little Rock and confined in a cell of the Penitentiary. But he accepted the alternative offered by Hodges, and went to work among the convicts. He is there yet, having had no trial.

The simple recital of these facts is more eloquent than Cicero's invectives against Verres, or Burke's and Sheridan's denunciations of the atrocities of Warren Hasting's despotism in India. One pictures to himself the lonely youth wasting away and dying, all the long, hot September days, in his dark and stifling cell; a creature like ourselves, loving and beloved, in the vigour of his early manhood, and the flush of manhood's early hopes, when he entered his prison-house, to be carried out from it after a few weeks an emaciated pale mass of inanimate clay, the spirit gone from it up to God's Judgment-seat to bear witness against the murderous lawgivers whose infamous enactments made such crimes possible. We see the dungeon, the iron hinges, the dim half-light creeping in over the iron door, "the box of stone, covered by its lid of granite, like a sepulchre, with this difference, that it shut in the living and not the dead;" the agonies and tears of the heart that grew cold within it, while breaking with anguish; the terrible lonely desolation of the long weeks of living death; the reason perhaps dethroned by the mercy of God, towards the last; and the lonely death.

Well does Victor Hugo say, "As the Neros reign darkly, they should be pictured so. Work with the graver only would be safe: into the grooves should be poured a concentrated prose which bites."

Men wonder at these things and are silent. The pen seems powerless to express the thoughts that flash within the soul like lightnings. Well again did Hugo say: "Despots are an aid to thinkers. Speech enchained is speech terrible. The writer doubles and triples his style, when silence is imposed by a master on the people. There springs from that silence a certain mysterious fulness, which filters and freezes into brass in the thoughts. Compression in the history produces conciseness in the Historian."

Some day the Tacitus will arise who will recount these hideous atrocities of despotism as examples and warnings. Would there were one now, "the nobility of whose great heart, condensed into justice and truth, should strike like a thunderbolt;" and teach the people that "despotism is always despotic" and always hateful. The abuse of arbitrary power, no matter in what hands, is inevitable. But nothing in the annals of despotism is more shameful than to imprison a man until his death, in a cell of stone, upon the complaint of a worthless negro, for an offence within the criminal jurisdiction of a Justice of the Peace. It is "an ignominy without excuse." If the Courts of the United States are powerless in Arkansas, far better close them at once, than to let them fall into deserved contempt. What right have they to sit there at all, if Arkansas is not a State in the Union? How can there be a Military Despotism there, if she is a State?

And, if the infamies of Military Despotism are long continued, and the Ords with fulsome eulogy long laud the excellencies of Military rule, how long before Victor Hugo's terrible picture of the Roman people under Caracalla, Vitellius and Commodus will become true of the people of the South? We copy his words, with a feeling almost of terror: "The sordidness of the slaves is a direct result of the despot; a miasma exhales from these crouching consciences, which reflects the master; the public powers are unclean; hearts are small, consciences shrunken, souls are puny. There is a deformity of baseness corresponding to the ugliness of the tyrant." Add only this, true only of our tyrants: "A Congress of free States subsidizes and arms the brutal negro to use him as an instrument for the enslavement and degradation of the men of its own race," and the hideous picture becomes complete.

FAIR PLAY.

Whenever it chances, if it ever should, that we feel bound to dissent from any thing proposed by our neighbor the Avalanche, and there is the least likelihood that in doing so we shall invite any censure of it on the part of the people of the South, we will endeavour to state what it says in justification or defence of its propositions: and will certainly not allow those who read the Appeal and do not read the Avalanche, to suppose that it approves what it condemns.

General Sherman, we have distinctly said, would not be even our tenth choice for the Presidency: but, we have said, we believe he is the strongest man before the Northern people, whom the Northern Democracy can run, and that they can elect him. If they nominate him, we will not assail him or them. To that extent we should accept him and support him. What will the Avalanche do in that case? Will it reject the nomination, and turn its batteries on the Democracy of the North? We think we can safely predict that it will not; and it is not quite as wise as usual when it commits itself in advance against one whom the Democracy of the Union is quite likely to select to lead it to the overthrow of Radicalism; and whom, in that case, our neighbor will support.

THE FOLLY OF OPPRESSION.

The remarks of Burke, in his letter to Sir Hercules Langrishe, in respect to the English Revolution and the policy pursued towards Ireland, are strikingly applicable to the present mis-government of the subjugated Southern Provinces of the United States. We quote the sentences, not continuously, but taking half-civilized semi-savages as their instruments of robbery and "the last excess of oppression and insolence:" and the reconstruction acts are "manifestly the effects of national hatred and scorn, towards a conquered people, whom the victors delight to trample on, and are not at all afraid to provoke. They are not the effect of their fears, but of their security."

Here in e devastated and ruined South, also, they who carry on the system, look to the irresistible force of the United States for their support in their acts of power; and are quite certain that no complaints of the natives will be heard on the other side of the Potomac and Ohio, but with contempt and indifference. The cries of the people of the South serve only to augment their torture. Enslaved and starving, it is also demanded that they shall sell their souls to the devil and sign the compact with their blood, by stigmatizing their dead brethren and sons as traitors, disfranchising and persecuting their leaders, and with sacrilegious hands pulling down the Temple of Constitutional liberty that their fathers built, and accepting the brutal and obscene progeny of Africa as their political equals. The reconstruction machine is, indeed, "of an excellent contrivance; and every measure is pleasing and popular to the Radical faction, in proportion as it tends to harass and ruin the unfortunate white people of the South. It is not ashamed even of that act of highway robbery, the tax on cotton, levied as a penalty in open contempt and defiance of the Constitution, wrung from a starving people and filched by fraud from the earnings of the sable pets and proteges of the Freedmen's Bureau.

Truly every age reproduces the crimes and follies of its predecessors, and the human race remains what it was five thousand years ago, except that a portion of it has a thin veneering of civilization over its ineradicable barbarism. The "pulpited Orthodoxy" of New England preaches the Gospel of Hate and Revenge; and under the semblance of patriotism in the high places of the State fester the foul and cancerous ulcers of a sordid corruption. But never before was there a race of white men found anywhere in the world with so low an estimate of itself as to be willing to entrust in any degree the fortunes and honour of their country to the keeping of an immense herd of semi-civilized negroes just emancipated from slavery. For that act of mingled insanity and malice the Past affords no precedent.

Night Dispatches.

Special Dispatch to the Appeal.]

HOLLY SPRINGS, MISS., November 26. Landlords' lien is not held preferable over the claim of those furnishing supplies.

O. L. GREENE, A. A. G.

[WESTERN ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS.]

RICHMOND, November 26.—Judge Chase did not arrive to-day, and the trial of Mr. Davis is postponed until the fourth Monday in March, and his bail bond has been extended until that time.

LOUISVILLE, November 26.—The river is stationary. Weather cloudy. Barometer falling. Thermometer, 45°.

NEW YORK, November 26.—Money is steady at 7 per cent. for call loans. Sterling quiet, 9@9½. Gold, 39¼. Government stocks are without decided change. Stocks, strong; New Tennessees, 61¼. Receipts at the sub-treasury, $2,664,300; payments, $1,261,942; balance, $109,923,121.

NEW ORLEANS, November 26.—The Convention succeeded in organizing today. The officers stand as follows: President, white; Secretary, Sergeant-at-Arms and Door-Keeper, black.

A committee of thirteen, of which W. L. McMillan is Chairman, was appointed to draft rules and regulations, pending which the rules and regulations of the House of Representatives of the United States were adopted. The Tribune was selected as the official organ. The Republican failed by one vote. No other business was transacted.

The Columbia river packet Idaho blew up at the wharf to-day. Six men were wounded, two mortally. The upper works of the boat were completely wrecked.

WASHINGTON, November 26.—In the House to-day, a resolution was offered by Blaine directing Gen. Grant to communicate to the House all correspondence addressed by him to the President on the subject of the removal of Stanton and Sheridan. Also any correspondence or order in his office showing the condition of the Fifth Military District prior to the passage of the Military Reconstruction Bill, and any recommendations he may have made therein, and what steps, if any, were taken by the civil authorities in regard to such recommendations, and also all correspondence in reference to the difficulties in Baltimore, touching the Police Commissioners and other matters prior to 1866, and in reference to the proposed mission of Generals of the army to Mexico in 1866.

Mr. Farnsworth suggested that the resolution also call for the correspondence in reference to Gen. Sickles.

Mr. Blaine protested against the modification, but the resolution was adopted.

The Freedmen Committee were directed to report whether the Bureau shall be continued beyond the time limited by law, or not.

Several resolutions were introduced and referred looking to the repeal of the Cotton Tax and the reduction of the military establishment to the lowest possible number, and the taxation of United States bonds at one per cent, and the issuance of bonds subject to municipal and State taxation.

The House then went into a Committee of the Whole, and Mr. Blaine made an hour's speech, against the proposition to pay the United States bonds in currency instead of gold.

Mr. Butler replied, taking the opposite ground, but before he concluded the Committee rose and the House adjourned.

The Senate's concurrent resolution for adjournment to-morrow until Monday was agreed to.

Nothing of importance was done in the Senate to-day, further than to adjourn until Monday.

MONTREAL, November 26.—Mrs. Howell, the mother-in-law of Jefferson Davis, died here yesterday.

BALTIMORE, November 26.—John S. and George D. Wise were yesterday indicted by the Grand Jury for assault with intent to kill Edward A. Pollard.

CHARLESTON, S. C., November 26.—The impression is almost universal here, that owing to a lack of the requisite majority of the registered voters, the Convention will be defeated in South Carolina, as 62,000 votes are required to ensure the Convention, and only 25,000 persons are known to have voted, in twenty districts out of the thirty in the State.

MONTGOMERY, November 26.—An article was reported by the Committee on Education to-day, providing for the establishment throughout the State, in each township or school district, one or more schools, at which all children of the State between eight and twenty years of age may attend, free of charge. A motion to amend by providing separate schools for the white and negro children, was tabled; yeas, 48, nays, 27; but on a final vote this section was adopted by a vote of yeas, 51, nays, 35.

It is highly probable that the proposition to organize a Provisional Civil State government, in place of the present one, will be quashed in the Committee.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

LOOXAHOMA LODGE No. 145, A. F. & A. M.

The inscrutable Providence of God is at work in our midst. The chastening hand of our Heavenly Father bears heavily upon us individually, socially and nationally. Daily the hand of God removes from among us some one around whom our hearts have loved to twine and cling for support. Though these manifestations are daily among us and around us, still we are seldom called upon to mourn over the loss of one who was so near and dear to us as him whose loss this Lodge is called upon to deplore at this time. The ax of the Great Leveller has felled to the ground the tallest tree in our Lebanon; His setting-maul has struck down one of the pillars which has supported our fair Edifice—One of the Fathers of our Lodge has been removed from the labor of Earth to Eternal refreshment above.

Having been associated with us during the whole course of his Masonic life, we had learned to honor and to love him. As a Mason he was true and steadfast to the principles of our Ancient Institution. As a neighbor he was beloved by all for his kindness, hospitality and charity. As a patriot he looked to the Constitution of his country as the anchor of our hopes, and the palladium of our liberties. As a Christian he died triumphantly rejoicing in the hope of a blessed immortality. Affection was the crucible in which Providence purified his soul and brightened his aspirations for immortality beyond the grave. He lived to see the vanities of earth fade one by one, until he saw life stripped of its follies and the absurdity of seeking happiness on earth. As he approached the turbid waters, his view of the Promised Land became clear, and he rejoiced that his pilgrimage was about over. His lamp was ready trimmed, his house was in order—he had but to draw up his feet and die. His timbers were all squared. His rocks were all numbered. They will stand the test of the Master's square, and we have no doubt, in the final award, he will be numbered with those on the right, whose work was good work and true.

Be it therefore, as a token of respect for the deceased, your Committee would recommend that their report be spread upon a separate page in our Lodge-Book; that a copy be furnished the family of our dear Brother, and that it be published in the Hernando Grieve and the Memphis Appeal.

Night Dispatches.

Special Dispatch to the Appeal.]

HOLLY SPRINGS, MISS., November 26. Landlords' lien is not held preferable over the claim of those furnishing supplies.

O. L. GREENE, A. A. G.

[WESTERN ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS.]

RICHMOND, November 26.—Judge Chase did not arrive to-day, and the trial of Mr. Davis is postponed until the fourth Monday in March, and his bail bond has been extended until that time.

LOUISVILLE, November 26.—The river is stationary. Weather cloudy. Barometer falling. Thermometer, 45°.

NEW YORK, November 26.—Money is steady at 7 per cent. for call loans. Sterling quiet, 9@9½. Gold, 39¼. Government stocks are without decided change. Stocks, strong; New Tennessees, 61¼. Receipts at the sub-treasury, $2,664,300; payments, $1,261,942; balance, $109,923,121.

NEW ORLEANS, November 26.—The Convention succeeded in organizing today. The officers stand as follows: President, white; Secretary, Sergeant-at-Arms and Door-Keeper, black.

A committee of thirteen, of which W. L. McMillan is Chairman, was appointed to draft rules and regulations, pending which the rules and regulations of the House of Representatives of the United States were adopted. The Tribune was selected as the official organ. The Republican failed by one vote. No other business was transacted.

The Columbia river packet Idaho blew up at the wharf to-day. Six men were wounded, two mortally. The upper works of the boat were completely wrecked.

WASHINGTON, November 26.—In the House to-day, a resolution was offered by Blaine directing Gen. Grant to communicate to the House all correspondence addressed by him to the President on the subject of the removal of Stanton and Sheridan. Also any correspondence or order in his office showing the condition of the Fifth Military District prior to the passage of the Military Reconstruction Bill, and any recommendations he may have made therein, and what steps, if any, were taken by the civil authorities in regard to such recommendations, and also all correspondence in reference to the difficulties in Baltimore, touching the Police Commissioners and other matters prior to 1866, and in reference to the proposed mission of Generals of the army to Mexico in 1866.

Mr. Farnsworth suggested that the resolution also call for the correspondence in reference to Gen. Sickles.

Mr. Blaine protested against the modification, but the resolution was adopted.

The Freedmen Committee were directed to report whether the Bureau shall be continued beyond the time limited by law, or not.

Several resolutions were introduced and referred looking to the repeal of the Cotton Tax and the reduction of the military establishment to the lowest possible number, and the taxation of United States bonds at one per cent, and the issuance of bonds subject to municipal and State taxation.

The House then went into a Committee of the Whole, and Mr. Blaine made an hour's speech, against the proposition to pay the United States bonds in currency instead of gold.

Mr. Butler replied, taking the opposite ground, but before he concluded the Committee rose and the House adjourned.

The Senate's concurrent resolution for adjournment to-morrow until Monday was agreed to.

Nothing of importance was done in the Senate to-day, further than to adjourn until Monday.

MONTREAL, November 26.—Mrs. Howell, the mother-in-law of Jefferson Davis, died here yesterday.

BALTIMORE, November 26.—John S. and George D. Wise were yesterday indicted by the Grand Jury for assault with intent to kill Edward A. Pollard.

CHARLESTON, S. C., November 26.—The impression is almost universal here, that owing to a lack of the requisite majority of the registered voters, the Convention will be defeated in South Carolina, as 62,000 votes are required to ensure the Convention, and only 25,000 persons are known to have voted, in twenty districts out of the thirty in the State.

MONTGOMERY, November 26.—An article was reported by the Committee on Education to-day, providing for the establishment throughout the State, in each township or school district, one or more schools, at which all children of the State between eight and twenty years of age may attend, free of charge. A motion to amend by providing separate schools for the white and negro children, was tabled; yeas, 48, nays, 27; but on a final vote this section was adopted by a vote of yeas, 51, nays, 35.

It is highly probable that the proposition to organize a Provisional Civil State government, in place of the present one, will be quashed in the Committee.

WANTED—THE PATENT
AURORA OIL.

We want men everywhere to study their own INTEREST. The right to manufacture and sell the Patent Aurora Oil in a single county will make more money to the purchaser in three months than the largest farm in your State will make in a whole year. The Aurora Oil actually costs less than one-half the price of Coal Oil, and has the illuminating power of the Aurora Oil is as much superior to the Coal Oil as the Coal Oil is to a tallow candle, and is no more explosive than a tallow candle. Any Lamp that will burn Coal Oil will burn the Aurora Oil. It does not smoke the chimney. It does not smell—it will not grease or stain the finest linen—not even white cloth. The material for its manufacture is inexhaustible. One man can make seventy-five barrels per day. No machinery required. We will pay your fare to Cairo from the city of Memphis and bills while here, if we cannot prove all, and even more, than we have stated. A single county is a small fortune to the man of enterprise, and the right to a State is untold wroth.

BUSINESS.—We request that our advertising patrons hand in their favors at the Counting Room by six o'clock p m, to insure insertion next day. Obituary and death notices will be received at the Composition Room up to eleven o'clock.

IMPORTANT TO FACTORS.—As will be seen by a special telegram to our paper, landlords' lien is not held preferable over the claim of those furnishing supplies in Mississippi.

DISCHARGED.—Ex-policeman Charles Rogers and the two inmates of a house of ill-fame, charged with stealing a watch, the property of M. Combs, jr., were discharged from custody yesterday, the grand jury failing to find a true bill.

FROM THE COUNTRY.—"A young man from the country" was received at the county prison yesterday on a mittimus issued by Justice Brewer charged with the crime of petit larceny. The sheriff will present his case to the Circuit Court for investigation.

ABOUT twenty lots are still unsold in the Meath subdivision just south of the terminus of the street railway, which will be positively sold to-day, the sale commencing at ten o'clock. If you would make a paying investment don't neglect to attend this sale.

NOT EXAMINED.—One of our cotemporaries stated that Angelo Marre, the supposed murderer of James Malatesta, was to be examined before a Justice of the Peace yesterday. This proceeding did not take place, but we learn that a true bill was found against the accused by the Grand Jury.

THE PAVEMENT.—We were glad to notice yesterday that the chaingang were employed in scraping the pavement on Adams street. It is very proper that the streets should be kept clean. In other cities the property-holders are required to do this work. Why should it not be so in Memphis?

NO RIGHT TO IT.—Mrs. Lear had in her possession bills bearing Mr. Spinner's autograph, amounting to about nine dollars, legal tender, which belonged to Violet Johnson, a colored lass. Charles Stephens, a son of Ham, by false representation succeeded in getting the money from the lady. Complaint was however made, and Charles arrested. He will come before Justice Miller on the 30th.

BADLY BEATEN.—A negro named Ben. Austin was assaulted on the levee, at the foot of Jefferson street, yesterday, by three colored brethren, and badly beaten. The cause could not be ascertained. Officer John, Fenton arrested the accused and lodged them in the Adams street stationhouse. They will have an interview with Mr. Commissioner Richards this morning.

ROBBED OF KENO MONEY.—A young man, a night or two since, was fortunate enough to win about one hundred dollars at keno, which he put in his vest pocket and proceeded toward home. He was met on the corner of Pontotoc and Main streets by two men, one of whom presented a pistol to his head and demanded his money which was handed over. How long will the foot-pads have their sway in our midst?

DRESS MAKING.—Mrs. Resonover, (late Miss Hattie Lindsay), is prepared to make dresses of the very latest and most approved styles, and in the very neatest manner. Her establishment is over Moffatt's trimming store, on Main street between Union and Gayoso streets, west side. Ladies who have had their dresses made by Mrs. R speak of her as a modiste in the highest terms.

FUNERALS.—The funeral of Mr. Augustino Vaccaro took place from St. Peter's Church, on Adams street, yesterday morning, the services being performed by that estimable clergyman, Rev. Father Eatland.

The lamented Malatesta was buried in the afternoon, his funeral being attended not only by a number of his personal friends and countrymen, but by a large concourse of citizens.

AID SOCIETY.—The third regular distribution of premiums of the Mississippi Agricultural, Educational and Manufacturing Aid Society will take place at Vicksburg, Miss., on Saturday next. There will be $46,800 distributed to holders of certificates. Those who have not renewed their certificates can do so by calling on W. H. Passmore & Co., east side of Court Square. Also those who may wish to buy certificates can there order certificates in this well conducted and reliable enterprise, whose profits are distributed for benevolent and useful purposes.

CIVIL ENGINEERING.—We were glad to learn yesterday that our young friends, Capt. Ike A. Hood and Will. S. Moon, have formed a copartnership in the civil engineering and surveying business, and opened an office at No. 4 Howards Row. They are both gentlemen, well qualified in every particular to perform justly any business called for in their profession. They have done good service in the lost cause, and now seek to make an honest living by hard labor. We know the Captain intimately and have no hesitation in endorsing him fully. His partner is of the right stamp.

THANKSGIVING.—As will be seen by our advertising columns, all the leading HARDWARE HOUSES of our city advertize that they will observe the national holiday set aside by the President. Several INSTITUTIONS professing to do a banking business, may avail themselves of this opportunity—to be closed if checks are presented, and open to depositors. In justice, therefore, to those who conform to the President's proclamation, we call the attention of our readers to their card, as well as the separate cards of the First National and the Commercial Banks.

IT IS with pleasure we recommend to the insuring public the Travelers' Life and Accident Insurance Company, 15 Madison street. Its plans give to its policy-holders more advantages than any in the city. It grants to the regular life policy-holder indemnity of from $25 to $50 per week, in addition to the inducements of most companies. H. P. Butler is its General Agent, who will take pleasure in explaining its plans and giving all explanations with official State documents.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED?—We are advised by some of the Ward Registrars that our citizens have been very backward in registering, under the impression that the certificate of Mr. Davis will be sufficient. If the law be repealed, it will be all right, but if it should not be, they will cut themselves off from the privilege through their own remissness, as the law pre-scribes that the voter shall be registered in his Ward, thirty days before the election. Davis' certificate is the basis of registry for the Mayor's election, and as the books will be shortly closed, those whom it concerns, and it should concern every citizen, ought to embrace the earliest opportunity of registering their names, unless they choose that the election shall go by default.

A TEST OF THE CASH VALUE OF MEMPHIS REAL ESTATE.—Yesterday morning a large crowd assembled at the corner of Adams and Second streets to witness the sale of three lots, each twenty-three feet front on Second street, by sixty-four deep. The corner lot on Adams street was sold at four hundred and ninety-six dollars per foot, and the inside at an average of three hundred and thirty dollars. This property has been assessed for taxation at this price at a cash valuation, as we are advised. When the cotton tax is removed, and the people recover from the "big scare" to which they were subjected by yellow fever, Mr. Colemau Boyd, the purchaser of this property, will double his money. Temporary evils should hardly exert so serious an influence upon the price of real properly. In truth, the woes to which the country is subjected will augment the population of the city and its suburbs.

JOE LOCKE, Avalanche building, 22 Jefferson street, has just received Frank Leslie's Magazine, The Land We Love, Every Saturday, Monthly, the Eclectic Magazine, New York Weekly, Harper's Weekly, Scientific American, National Freemason, the Ball Chronicle, Irish American, Freeman's Journal, Irish Republic, Boston Pilot, Irish People, Irish Citizen, (Mitchell's paper,) Courier des Etats Unis, Leslie Zeitung, Democrat, Belletristches Journal, State Zeitung, Police News, Police Gazette, Army and Navy Journal, New York Mercury, Southern Society, London News, London Times, and all of the latest magazines and dailies. Keeps constantly on hand books, stationery, etc., etc. Give him a call.

BOLD ROBBERY.—The young man who sleeps in a back room of the jewelry store of Aug. Joeres, No. 62 Jefferson street, was induced to go to the fire, caused by the burning of the Bostona No. 2, yesterday morning. Returning with an acquaintance, they stepped into a saloon and had a glass or two of beer. They separated, and the employes of Mr. Joeres was found by Officer Shoke, of the M. P.'s, at the corner of Fourth and Jefferson, (how did he get there?) lying on the sidewalk badly beaten on the head, and without hat or shoes. His pockets had been rifled and the keys of the store and safe taken. The store was entered, and the safe opened and robbed of a number of gold and silver watches left there for repairs. Persons in the adjoining house heard the thieves leaving, but supposed it was the young man and a companion, and took no notice of it.

FIRES YESTERDAY MORNING.—The old hulk of the Bostona No. 2, which had been dismantled some time since, and long lay above the upper wharfboat, but more recently had been removed to the foot of Pontotoc street, was discovered on fire yesterday morning about one o'clock. Her machinery had been removed, and she had been towed here with a cargo of hay some months ago. It is said that the old hulk was to have been sold at auction yesterday. Her value was about $2000 and she was insured for $1000 by Mr. Coleman, agent of the Phœnix of Columbia. As the mackerels used her as a sleeping place, it is thought they were instrumental in the conflagration, either by accident or design. The steam fire engines were out, but the place where the hulk was tied up was inaccessible, and they were unable to arrest the flames, which licked up the dry boards in brief time, making a very brilliant light. Another alarm, about 2 a.m., which was caused by a fire in the northern portion of the city, destroyed a store of Mr. John Dougherty, north of the Memphis and Ohio railroad. On account of the locality and the mud, the engines failed to get there, and the store and contents were consumed. Loss estimated at $1500, without insurance.

[CORRESPONDENCE.]
MEMPHIS, November 26, 1867.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

Gents: Having noticed an inquiry in your paper of this inst., relative to a new application of motive power to machinery, by which it is claimed that increased speed can be obtained without loss of power, I wrote to a friend in Arkansas who could give you the desired information, as he had examined the invention, and bought a large interest in the patent. I give you the substance of his answer as follows: "Tell Gen. Pike that the inventors and myself will be in Memphis within a few weeks, to establish a manufactory of the 'Excelsior Motor,' suited to all kinds of machinery. We wish to organize a stock company there, and manufacture for the whole West and Southwest. The 'Excelsior Motor' is peculiarly adapted to the machinery of steamboats, as much smaller engines than those now used will be sufficient for them. We are having a final test now made, which is the only thing that delays our trip to your city." The above mentioned "Motor" was invented in Ashley county, Ark., and created the greatest excitement in that section when it was exhibited in public. It is now in the hands of gentlemen of capital and energy, and we shall soon see it in Memphis, when all interested can decide on its merits. The above extract is from a letter of R. M. Dickenson, Esq., Hamburg, Ashley county, Ark.
Very respectfully,
J. H.

MUNICIPAL COURT—George W. Waldron, Judge, etc.—The cases on writs of inquiry which were heretofore specially set, will be taken up to-day. On Friday and Saturday next criminal cases will be taken up and tried.

CHANCERY COURT—Wm. M. Smith, Chancellor, etc.—Meets on Friday next pursuant to adjournment. Motions will be heard on that day. The clerk will call the roll of solicitors, commencing at letter A.

CRIMINAL COURT—Wm. Hunter, Judge. The jury in the murder case of the State vs. Doulon, was unable to agree last evening, and was sent back to the jury room with instructions to report this morning. One of the jurors became quite sick on yesterday, and the question was discussed as to the authority of the Court to discharge the jury on that account, without the consent of the defendant. Dr. Alston, Clerk and Master of the Chancery Court, examined the juror, and informed the Court that the juror would be able to attend to business to-day. Suitable accommodation was provided for the sick juror. A verdict will probably be rendered to-day. The case of the State vs. Henry Thompson, indictment for arson, was called up and tried. The jury, after an absence of an hour, returned a verdict of guilty, and fixed the penalty at twenty-one years' imprisonment in the Penitentiary. The usual motion for a new trial and an arrest of judgment was entered. Judge Smith, counsel of ex-Policeman John C. Rogers, moved to discharge the prisoner from the county jail, as the Grand Jury ignored the bill of indictment sent to them by the Attorney General. He was charged with stealing a watch, the property of M. Combs, jr. The motion was granted, and the prisoner discharged. The jail cases will continue to be called for trial to-day.

THE COMPLEXION BEAUTIFIER OF THE AGE.—From testimonials, which we have carefully examined, from the first druggists, chemists and dentists, and from some of the leading ladies of St. Louis, Jefferson City and Quincy, we are satisfied that Mrs. Jackson's "Queen Rose Complexion Wash," or the Ladies' Celebrated Rose Pink Beautifier is bound to supersede all other cosmetics and dentifrices, now in use in this country. The recipe for preparing it was purchased by a former American minister at Paris, at an expense of five hundred francs, and is a standard cosmetic used by the Court beauties of France. By its use the celebrated Madame Vestris preserved her beauty to a very late period in life. It removes from the skin all scurvy, tan, pimples, freckles and eruptions. It brings out to the surface of the skin that beautiful, delicate carnation which imparts such a divine beauty and almost radiance to the complexion, and transforms the sallow hue and blotched face to a pearly whiteness. It is manufactured from the essential oils of our native flowers, in the laboratory of one of the best chemists in St. Louis. And withal, there is nothing in the slightest degree deleterious, as certified by some of the most celebrated French and German chemists. It is also a most efficient and useful tooth wash, removing scurvy from the gums and tartar and scurf from the teeth, arresting decay, hardening the gums, and leaving in the mouth a most refreshing taste. It is also highly recommended for sore throat, sore mouth, canker of the stomach and bowels, and scrofulous symptoms. Let a preparation, so useful, so delightful and so thoroughly established, be at once introduced into our city and State. Mrs. Jackson, the proprietress, a Southern lady, is at the Whitemore House, and respectfully solicits calls from ladies, when they can test the virtues of her incomparable wash free of charge.

The Public is now aware that Rice, Stix & Co.'s closing Dry Goods sale is no deception. The inducements offered are such as will convince any one that the stock will be closed out as soon as possible.

FIRE LAST NIGHT.

THE BOTANICAL COLLEGE BURNED.

A Mass of Ruins the Only Vestige of an Old Land-mark.

About nine o'clock last night the fire bells sounded the usual alarm. The cause was the issuance of flames from the north corner of the building near the corner of Beal and Lauderdale streets, known as the old Botanical College, but lately used as the Memphis Institute and Law School. The building was entirely consumed. Although the engines were early on the ground, but little was saved. What was once one of the finest buildings in Memphis is now but a mass of ruins. We have not learned of any insurance on the property.

IMPORTANT TO INSURERS.—In our advertising column appears the statement of an Insurance Company familiar to all insurers—the Hartford Fire Insurance Company—a company which has pursued the even tenor of its way, and by good, safe and prudent management, together with a judicious selection of its agents, has gradually strengthened its resources until it stands second to no insurance Company represented in our city proportionately to its capital. One of the best reasons, however, which recommends it to the confidence of our people, is that it is represented by H. A. Littleton.

EMMONS & SON, No. 10 Jefferson street and 393 Main street, have received Waverly Magazine, Aitkon, New York Citizen, Wilkes' Spirit, Saturday Night, New York Mercury, Army and Navy Journal, German Leslie, True Flag, Fireside Companion, American Union, London Weekly Times, Harper's Bazaar No. 6, Chimney Corner, La Cosse Democrat, Police News, Harper's Weekly, Police Gazette, Frank Leslie, Gleason's Companion, Round Table, London News, London Art Journal, and Every Saturday, for November, Harper's Magazine, Godey's Lady's Book, Frank Leslie's Lady's Book of Fashion, Madam Demorest's Magazine, all for December, and dillies from everywhere. Call at Emmons & Son's for your reading matter.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH AT NASHVILLE.

FOURTH DAY.

Assembly met at 9½ o'clock, and was opened with prayer. The unfinished business of Saturday was taken up and passed, authorizing the Executive Committee to issue a monthly, Local Dougherty, north of the Memphis and Ohio railroad. On account of the locality and the mud, the engines failed to get there, and the store and contents were consumed. Loss estimated at $1500, without insurance.

Rev. Mr. Priestly, of the Associate Reformed Synod, took the stand and delivered the greetings of that Synod to the Assembly. He told the Assembly of the operations of his church, and in an elegant manner bade the Assembly "go forward," and that his church prayed that peace might be within the wall of Jerusalem.

Rev. T. V. Moore, Moderator, answered, assuring the brother of the kindness of feeling towards his church, the brotherly love which has always existed. He regretted that his church could not see the way clear to form an organic union with this church. He did not wonder that the Associated Reformed Church loved her songs of Zion and Psalm of praise. He did not wonder that they were attached to their forms and the peculiarities of their church. He then charged him to bear back the salutations of the Assembly, hoping that that bond of peace which is above all outward forms, might ever bind the churches.

The Assembly then, in answer to an overture from North Alabama Presbytery, said: That it is inexpedient to take any steps towards the formation of a third Theological Seminary.

On motion, the vote on the above answer was made the second order of the day to-morrow.

The Committee on Bills and Overture reported an overture from the Presbytery of Mississippi, dissenting from the order of the Synod to hold a call meeting—taking the ground that the Synod had no right to order the Presbytery to meet. Committee recommended the Assembly to approve the dissent. Report adopted.

The committee appointed at the last Assembly to report on Relations of Church and State, were discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

It was made the order of the day on Wednesday at 11 o'clock to hear the delegate from the Synod of Missouri.

Committee on Records of Synod of Nashville report their approval as far as written. Report adopted.

Committee on Systematic Belevolence reported.

The Committee are glad to know that nearly all the Presbyteries have adopted the Assembly's plan.

Resolved, That the ministers and elders give every member of the church an opportunity to contribute to the sustentation of the church.

2. That weekly contributions be urged as the plan to be adopted by all the churches.

3. That the secretaries bring this matter before the churches at the proper times.

The consideration of the report was made the third order of the day tomorrow.

After recess, Dr. Baird presented the request from churches in Baltimore for the removal of the Board of Publication to that city. Request referred to the Committee on Publication.

The Committee on Bills and Overtures, through the Chairman, Dr. Smith, submitted the following report:

Overture from Synod of Virginia and Synod of Mississippi, proposing to revoke the action of the Assembly last year in reference to freedmen, and now agree to ordain colored men to the ministry.

The committee recommend the following answer:

That the Assembly see no reason to make changes in our book, which book opens the way to every man of every color, which may come up to the standard.

That the Assembly declines to make the change proposed.

That the Assembly again enjoins that more earnest efforts be made to bring in the colored people to church ordinances and church privileges.

Dr. Smith said there was no design to exclude any man from the church, or the offices thereof, in any paper adopted by former assemblies; and if any man anywhere has interpreted the action of the Assembly differently, they have misstaken that action. He could not see any reason why the Assembly should make any change in deliverances made.

On motion, the report was recommitted to the Committee on Bills and Overtures.

The report was then recommitted.

The Committee on Records of the Synod of Virginia, reported its approval with some exceptions. After striking out some of the exceptions, the report was adopted.

The overture to re-adjust the boundaries of the Presbyteries of the Synod of Arkansas, was referred to the Committee on Bills and Overtures.

The Moderator announced the hour for Devotional Exercises, after which the Assembly adjourned until to-morrow morning. DELTA.

AMUSEMENTS.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATER.—At this favorite place of amusement The Cricket was produced, with Miss Fanny Price as "Fanchon," a character which she sustained with great credit, her rendition thereof being better than that of Miss Melville's and quite equal to Maggie Mitchell. She is an actress who has made her own way in the dramatic world by merit only, and as such is deserving of all praise. She is a young lady of rare merit and pleasing appearance. Her articulation is good, and her rhetoric correct. She cannot fail to please the appreciative play-goers who frequent this theater. The star was ably supported by Mr. Hanchett as "Father Barbeau," with Frank Roche as "Lanfrey." Mr. Ellerton failed to appear as "Didier," but Shirley France acted the part in a very creditable manner. Mrs. Allen played old "Fadet" in excellent style. The "Mother Barbeau" of Mrs. Moore was very good, as was the "Madelon" of Miss Fanny Pierson. To-night we are to have Lucretia Borgia, with Miss Price as the "Poisoner," and the afterpiece of the Clockmaker's Hat. With this bill the house should be filled to overflowing. We have heard many of our fair friends express the opinion that Manager Thompson would continue his Saturday matinees, which were inaugurated last Saturday, for the gratification of the ladies and children. We hope he may be induced to do so. We are advised that the sensational drama of Nobody's Daughter is in active preparation and will shortly be produced. In this piece Miss Price sustains three separate characters.

GREENLAW OPERA HOUSE—TALE OF ENCHANTMENT.—The dampness and mud prevailed last evening, and very few ladies ventured out. Consequently the Greenlaw Opera House was not honored by the presence of many, as was the case the previous evening. The male portion of the house, however, was extensive, and the applause very frequent. The dancing of M'lles Galetti and Auriol, and Mons. Cordelli, was superb; and the young ladies who relieved the premiere danseuse, after one of her grande pas, danced very gracefully, and were deservedly applauded. She who has the auburn curls, and such radiant eyes, will make a splendid danseuse one of these days. Her form is exquisite, although she is yet very young. Miss Helen De Vere, as "Gretchen," was received with every mark of favor, and her song,

"Meet me in the lane, dear,
When the clock strikes nine,"

was enthusiastically encored, when she sang with great spirit "Norah O'Neil." This young lady, besides possessing personal beauty, has a fine stage presence, and takes a prominent place in the tableaux and dances. Mr. Davidson as "Kreutzer" was very amusing, and as usual, Mr. Denler's "Frog" was an exquisite piece of drollery. The scenery and costumes continue to excite admiration, and merit the most they could receive. Mr. Deagle is indefatigable in his efforts to produce the Tale of Enchantment in the finest style, and none who witness it can fail to acknowledge his success. There will be a Matinee on Saturday afternoon, for the purpose of enabling those who cannot leave home after night to have an opportunity of seeing in all its splendor the Tale of Enchantment.

VARIETIES.—The Varieties was well attended last night and the audience was much pleased with the dancing of Carrie Corneli, Fannie Williams and Miss Sallie E. Eldridge. The singing of Miss Ada Wray and the character acting of Wm. Payne Wray never fail to please.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, } MEMPHIS, November 26, 1867. }

By cards in another column it will be seen that our banks will remain closed to-morrow, Thanksgiving-day. Parties having matter falling due on that day are requested to meet them to-day.

Financial affairs are much the same as last week, but there is if anything, more complaint about collections, and currency does not improve in volume. There is no difficulty in procuring funds to move all cotton, but there is the same want of confidence in mercantile paper noticed before.

Exchange has been in fair supply, but not in excess, during the week. The demand has been moderately active. All New York sights is taken at ½ discount and on other points east ¾ is the current rate. Our banks check at par and in special cases at from ½ to ¾ discount. New Orleans Exchange has not been in demand, and was taken sparingly at ¾ to 1 per cent. off.

Gold was tolerably steady during the week until Friday, when it advanced ⅛, and has varied but little since. It opened to-day at 138, for dealers buy at 137⅞ @ 138 for shipment, with no counter demand.

The firmness which characterized City Scrip early in the week has given way, and dealers are offering to-day but 86.

Small sized County Warrants are in active demand and scarce. The payers have but a short time in which to liquidate their State and county taxes, without incurring the expense which follows a distress warrant, etc. Dealers make a difference between large and small Scrip, selling 50s for more than 100s, and so for the latter. The selling rates are 70 to 80c.

There is very little Police Scrip afloat. Brokers buy at 40c and sell at 50c.

Stocks and bonds are dull. Currency is too scarce for speculation, and very few have confidence in any kind of securities.

The creditors of the ten National Banks which have failed thus far will realize about 70 per cent., and the total loss to the public will be nearly $1,000,000. The circulation will, of course, be paid in full.

It will be seen that the bill to repeal the cotton tax has been referred, but we do not think that action will be long postponed on this subject. Schuyler Colfax, one of the most prominent instigators of this measure, says in a letter to H. A. Shorter, of Alabama, under date of November 24:

Dear Sir: Your letter of October 22d, has been remailed to me from home at South bend, and has just reached me. In answer to your request I believe the cotton tax ought to be and will be repealed. When it was levied I thought that the high price cotton was then commanding would render the tax less burdensome than it has since proved. But as we do not tax other agriculturist products, and as cotton is so valuable as an equalizer of exchanges, and is an article of such prime necessity to so many millions, and as its culture in our country should be encouraged, I am decidedly in favor of abolishing the present direct tax on it. Indeed the depressed condition of this staple will, I think, incline Congress to repeal it early in the session. Still, I can of course speak for myself alone.

The market for the week has been moderately active, but prices are fully 1c lower than at the opening. The week opened with a decline in Liverpool and New York of ⅛c. On Friday our market was irregular, but with some activity in Uplands for Middling. Liverpool quotations for that day were 8¾d for Uplands, and 8¾d for Orleans. On Saturday the Liverpool market was heavy, while that of New York was inactive and declining, with Middling, 17⅝@17½c; Orleans, 18½c. Our market declined to 16@16½c for Middling. On Monday the Cable dispatches announced the Liverpool market as opening dull and tending downwards. At the opening, New York was 8 3-16d; Orleans, 8 7-16d, but at Uplands were 8 3-16d; Orleans, 8¾d. Many of our factors covered up their samples and withdrew from the market, but sales were fair, notwithstanding at 16¾@16c early in the day, and previous to receipt of advices. At the close buyers were offering 16¼c. To day the Liverpool market opened irregular, but prices unchanged, and closed quiet but heavy, with sales for the day 8,000 bales. The New York market opened dull and unchanged. At noon it was the same, and closed active but weak, with sales of 2,000 bales. There was a very fair inquiry here to-day at 16¼c for Middling, and sales were fully up to the average. The market closed firm as follows:

| Ordinary | |
| Good Ordinary | 13½@14 |
| Low Middling | 14¾@15 |
| Middling to Strict | 15¾@16 |

Memphis Wholesale Boot and Shoe Market.

The Boot and Shoe market which during the summer season was steady, and during the early part of the season was active, has, like all other branches of business, settled down into positive dullness. The unusually pleasant weather which we have enjoyed, has not been favorable to trade. With the advent of cold winter, however, we hope to see an increased demand. Prices are about the same as last week, but to effect a sale dealers would make concessions:

Wholesale Market.

There has not been much activity in our general markets during the week, although prices have been tolerably steady. The demand for bagging, rope and ties is falling off rapidly, and prices are weak and nominal. Meats are firmer the last week, with a lighter stock. Produce is lower. Corn is also declining under additional receipts and shipping demands. Oats are rather stiffer. Bran is dull, and Hay is also inactive. Eggs have been scarce, but with large receipts within the past two or three days, prices have given away. Choice Butter is in good request and firm. Onions are very scarce and firm. Flour remains inactive, with very little demand outside our city trade. Meal is not active and prices have declined in consequence of receipts of fresh meal from the interior and the large amounts manufactured in this city. Chickens, Turkeys, etc., are in fair supply. Game comes in freely and sells rapidly.

Memphis Wholesale Dry Goods Market

The Wholesale Dry Goods market has been dull for the week, and prices of bleached cotton as well as linens, have declined. Trade is confined to jobbing, and will supply immediate wants, and in many cases the downward tendency of the market has kept buyers from purchasing even what they actually need, lest the decline should find them with a small stock on hand. The retail trade of our city is not prosperous, as may be daily seen by the announcements in our columns of stocks being sold at a sacrifice. It is not a trick of the trade, but an actual fact, and even these inducements fail to get up a rush.

THE MEMPHIS APPEAL

THE INDIAN AUTUMN.

See, across the smiling valley,
Where the yellow corn-fields stand,
Fruitful with the red man's blessing,
Rise the mountains tall and grand,
With their cloudy purple summit
Gazing far across the land.

Seem they like great chiefs in council,
Stern and thoughtful every one;
Like a big eye, downward peering,
Through the cloud rifts looks the sun
On the brond vale, fair and shining,
Where the silver rivers run.

There the smoke of many wigwams,
Like a soft haze hovers blue;
There beside the lisping river
Safe is nooned the birch canoe,
That with light stroke, quick and steady,
Glides the glassy waters through.

Hither comes the dry-voiced robin,
With the sunset on its breast,
Deepest dye of happy crimson,
Borrowed from the glowing West,
That with lingering colors kindles
When the great sun sinks to rest.

Yonder see the forest monarch,
See the oak
